No Creed But Christ

Christ himself is the Christian's creed or more fully stated – "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." (Matthew 16:16) This is the original creed of Christianity. It is this that the first Christians believed, confessed and lived by.

All man-made creeds, theological opinions, commands of men, and human traditions are irrelevant at best and often worse. No man is required to subscribe to any theological system devised by men.

What is required is faith that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God and obedience to Him as Lord and King. It is the belief of this fact and the obedience it implies that is the very foundation of Christianity.
(Matthew 16:18)
